HOPPIN BOUND OVER TO FEDERAL COURT

Local Detectives Cleverly Captured Alleged Counterfeiter and Got Strong Evidence.

TRAPPED BY SWEETHEART

Moved From Rooming House Where Counterfeit Molds Was Found and Annie Gerhart Identifies Him by a Comb That He Failed to Take Along.

[illegible] while the woman moved to a house on [illegible] While there she testified Hoppin brought the molds to her and she kept them for a while. She finally asked him to [illegible] for them and he took them away. That was early [illegible]

Other witnesses were Mrs. Melvina [illegible] Mrs. Effie Brown, Mrs. Margaret Hazel and Detective Atkinson.

Mr. Patten who is proprietress of the rooming house at No. 113 East Huerfano [illegible] where lot of plaster of paris [illegible] and some cheap alloy of silver was found last April, said that she thought Hoppin was one of the two men who had occupied the room where the material was found. Mrs. Brown her daughter gave similar testimony. Mrs. Hazel said she thought Hoppin was the man he had seen at the [illegible] last summer at the time a counterfeit coin had been passed at the railroad lunch room there. Detective Atkinson gave the story of the arrest.

Secret Service Agent Joseph A. Walker of Denver had charge of the prosecution and Attorney McKesson represented the defendant.

Annie Gerhart declares Hoppin is the father of her child and a charge she brought against him is pending before Justice Ruby. Hoppin says the woman is married but she says she secured a divorce from her husband in Iowa.

The arrest of Hoppin on the charge of counterfeiting came about strangely. Annie Gerhart was visiting Mrs. Patten about 10 days ago when she saw at the latter's house a broken metal comb. She told Mrs. Patten that the comb looked like one that had belonged to Hoppin. Mrs. Patten remembered that the comb had belonged to one of the men who were supposed to have left the counterfeiting kit at her rooming house and she notified the police. Mr. Walker was informed of the coincidence and Annie Gerhart was questioned. She told her story and Hoppin was arrested.

Mr. Whitfield expressed the opinion that the joint committee would at an early date announce a modification of the rules regarding foul strikes.

COLORADO SPRINGS PUBLIC BUILDING

Special to the Gazette

Washington, D. C., March 12.—Senator Scott of the public buildings committee today reported Senator Teller's bill providing for a public building at Colorado Springs with an amendment reducing the amount of the appropriation to $150,000.

Senator Warren, to whom the bill was first referred, declined to report the bill at this reduced amount. Senator Teller decided upon having the bill reported at the amount decided upon by the committee with the hope of having the limit of cost extended at some subsequent time. Senator Scott, who is familiar with conditions in Colorado Springs and interested in the welfare of the city, concurred in Mr. Teller's decision and made a report on the bill.

Senator Teller said this evening: "The amount named by the committee is inadequate for a building such as Colorado Springs should have and in this view I am sustained by the treasury department which recommended an appropriation of $240,000, but I think best to accept the lesser amount at this time. In making the reduction the committee followed their general rule of gauging appropriations according to population, this rule placing Colorado Springs in the same class with eastern cities of like population but lesser business importance."

Senator Teller expects to secure the passage of the bill in the senate at an early day and that it will pass the house this session.

IN FAVOR OF THE NICARAGUA ROUTE

Senate Committee Has Decided to Report Hepburn Bill.

WILL SUBMIT THE TESTIMONY

Morgan Says He Will Use All Due Diligence in Securing Consideration of the Measure.

By Associated Press

Washington, March 12.—The senate committee on isthmian canals has decided by a vote of seven to four to report the Hepburn bill providing for the construction of an isthmian canal via the Nicaragua route.

The action of the committee was taken at a called meeting held during the afternoon and came after a brief report by Senator Morgan, chairman of the committee, detailing the result of a conference with Secretary Hay as to the status of diplomatic negotiations with the Central American republics concerning the canal. He stated that the secretary had told him that there are no negotiations in progress between the United States and Colombia concerning the Panama route and that the new minister had not even presented his credentials but that on the other hand the representatives of this country and those of Nicaragua and Costa Rica had been in consultation and had agreed upon practically all the points to be covered in concession treaties, nothing really being left in that connection but to put the agreements in writing. He said that the governments of those two countries had manifested a disposition to make all the concessions the United States could ask to aid in the construction of the canal and that among these concessions is one for perpetual right of way.

When the recitation of the report had been completed Senator Hanna suggested that probably the Colombian minister had been detained by untoward circumstances and proposed that action by the committee should be delayed until an opportunity could be had to ascertain Colombia's position. This suggestion met with a strong protest from the friends of the Nicaragua route and Senator Mitchell moved to report the Hepburn bill as it passed the house.

Senator Kittredge moved to amend by postponing action until next Monday but his motion was voted down—4 to 7.

Senator Mitchell's motion was carried by the same vote, reversed. Some of the members of the committee were absent but as their positions were understood their votes were counted. The vote for the Hepburn bill stood: Yeas—Morgan, Mitchell, Hawley, Platt (N. Y.), Pettus, Turner, Foster (La.).

Nays—Hanna, Pritchard, Millard, Kittredge.

Senator Morgan after the adjournment of the committee said that he would probably report the bill to the senate tomorrow. While he would use all due diligence in securing consideration of the measure he had no conference with the Republican leaders of the senate as to when the measure should be taken up for consideration. He had not been authorized to present a written report and would not present any beyond submitting the testimony taken during the committee hearings.

The Hepburn bill authorizes the president to acquire territory for right of way for a canal from Costa Rica and Nicaragua, directs the construction of a canal of sufficient capacity to accommodate the largest ships from Greytown on the Atlantic via Lake Nicaragua to Brito on the Pacific under the supervision of the secretary of war, authorizes surveys of the harbors at the two ends of the route, guarantees the use of the canal to vessels of Costa Rica and Nicaragua, and appropriates $10,000,000 for beginning the work.

NUMEROUS TOPICS WERE DISCUSSED BY THE HOUSE

By Associated Press

Washington, March 12.—General debate on the postoffice bill continued in the house today. A number of topics being discussed. The proceedings were enlivened by a clash between Mr. Corliss of Michigan and Mr. Richardson of Alabama on the subject of the Pacific cable. This is the second time these two members have locked horns on the cable question. Mr. Sims of Tennessee devoted some time to showing how the house had been buncoed in connection with the permanent census bill. Mr. Dougherty of Missouri discussed rural free delivery, Mr. Jackson of Kansas the government ownership of telegraphs and Mr. Greene of Pennsylvania the Philippine situation. The latter argued that if we would proclaim our purpose to grant independence to the Filipinos the insurrection would cease instantly. The house adjourned at 4:30 out of respect to the memory of Doorkeeper Glenn who died today.

After transaction of routine business at the beginning of the session the house went into committee of the whole and resumed the consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill.

Mr. Sims (Tenn.) reviewed the facts in connection with the enactment of the permanent census law and asserted that the house had been grossly deceived by the action of the conferees. It had been the intention both of the house and the senate, he said, to enact a provision which would cover all the employes of the census bureau into the classified service and make them eligible for transfer but the conferees had substituted a provision which defeated the object sought to be obtained by the two houses. He charged that Mr. Hopkins of Illinois who presented the conference report had deceived the house. Mr. Hopkins' action he declared called for the strongest censure by the house but as the gentleman was not present he would not propose action along that line.

Mr. Loud (Calif.) interrupted to say that the conferees on the census bill deserved the thanks of the country for what they had accomplished.

"Congress," said he, "attempted to steal something and the conferees prevented it."

"I take issue with the gentleman," retorted Mr. Sims. "Congress passed the section openly. Stealing is done secretly after the manner in which this bunco game was worked."

Mr. Corliss (Mich.) secured the floor and launched an assault on Mr. Richardson of Alabama who some time ago replied to Mr. Corliss' speech in favor of the construction by the government of a Pacific cable. He went so far as to question the sincerity of Mr. Richardson and intimated broadly that there was some ulterior motive behind the latter's speech which he expressed here in support of the Pacific cable monopoly.

"With the hope no doubt," said he sarcastically, "of illustrating his disinterestedness, he placidly tells us that in his own long experience at the bar he has never represented corporations. What prompts the gentleman to display such zeal as he manifested in his effort to defend a corporation which seeks to usurp, without permission or authority, one of the most important privileges held by our country? Why does not the gentleman from Alabama wait until the consideration of this measure has been properly brought before the house? What purpose has the gentleman in mind or object to obtain in rushing to the defense of this corporation?

"He questions my zeal and seeks to find the motive which prompts such action. He should study the scheming methods by which the commercial cable interests have been transformed from an active ally of a government cable into a partnership with an English corporation holding exclusive privileges and the monopoly of cable rights in the far east."

He paid his respects to those who opposed the government cable with whom he said Mr. Richardson had allied himself. He was especially severe on the "United States Export association of New York" and its president, F. B. Thurber. He coupled Mr. Thurber's name with that of an officer of the American Asiatic association, styling them "the devil's duet in the garb of the 'Heavenly twins' seeking to mislead the public and conceal the iniquity to the cable monopoly in its effort to steal this most valuable public franchise."

Mr. Corliss read a resolution which he said he would ask to have considered later. It recites that an officer of the Commercial Cable company has made a combination with other cable companies in violation of conditions imposed upon the lines and in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law and directs the attorney general to institute proceedings to destroy the monopoly.

Mr. Jackson (Kas.) followed with a set speech in favor of government ownership of the telegraphs.

Mr. Richardson of Alabama then secured recognition to reply to Mr. Corliss. He said he would not have replied had the gentleman from Michigan not indulged in remarks personal to himself.

"I regret," said he, "that the gentleman is not in his seat at this time as I do not believe in the policy of shooting and then running."

Mr. Richardson then proceeded to make some very caustic comment upon the remarkable and exclusive facilities possessed by the gentleman from Michigan for the advance delivery of his speeches throughout the country.

He disclaimed any intention to reflect upon the correspondents of the press but he expressed his surprise that the speech made by Mr. Corliss earlier in the day had been typewritten and "lying in soak" for two weeks. Thereupon he drew from his desk a copy of a prepared synopsis of Mr. Corliss's speech liberally interladen with editorial comments, and proceeded to read some of the characterizations it contained.

By this time the members of the house were interested and began crowding around the place where Mr. Richardson was standing.

Mr. Corliss himself entered the hall. Before he sat down he denied that he had written the advance newspaper articles describing his speech which had been circulated.

Mr. Richardson said he was conscious of the correctness of his own motives and refused to be diverted from the real issue by the "rawhead and bloody bones" conjured up by the gentleman from Michigan. It was all the veriest clap trap.

"What is this proposition," said Mr. Richardson, "that we have to discuss? The gentleman from Michigan and his friends propose that the government of the United States shall lay this cable from the coast of California to Manila at a cost of a conservative estimate of $15,000,000. The annual outlay for its maintenance will be $1,500,000. The reasonable annual income that the government can expect to derive will not exceed $150,000. That is the proposition that they make and that is the proposition that this house will not pass upon.

"What is the proposition for which we are contending? It is this. Here is the Commercial Pacific Cable company, competent, qualified, experienced in its work, with men of the necessary skill. They propose to build this cable from the coast of California to Manila by January 1905 without a single dollar of cost or subsidy from the government. They have entered into a contract to build this cable from San Francisco to Honolulu and to complete it by the first of January 1903. They have expended on the contract $180,000. It will cost them to build to Honolulu something over $2,000,000. When this company gives such an earnest evidence of spending over two millions it is an absolute guarantee that it will proceed and build the line to Manila where the business will pay.

"The Commercial Pacific Cable company proposes to build an all American line if possible. There is no question about that except the deep water around Guam. It proposes to take government messages at half rates and not only that but that the postmaster general shall regulate the rate and that the secretary of state, whenever he sees an emergency arise, shall have a right in the name of the government to take possession of that line and to use it and operate it for the government until the necessity is past. These are the propositions that we propound to those who raise this cry of monopoly and octopus."

Mr. Richardson said the real track of the octopus and monopoly could be found in section 8 of the Corliss bill and he proceeded to read from the testimony of Mr. Clark of the Western Union Telegraph company the statement that a government cable would give his company its share of the business while if the Commercial Cable company constructed the Pacific cable it would get nothing.

Mr. Payne (N. Y.), leader of the majority, announced the death of Mr. Glenn, the doorkeeper of the house, which occurred today. The speaker appointed a committee to attend the funeral.

At 4:30 p. m. as a further mark of respect to the memory of the deceased the house adjourned.

DOCTORS IN THE STAND IN THE PATRICK TRIAL

By Associated Press

New York, March 12.—Dr. John H. Girdiner was on the witness stand again today in the trial of Albert T. Patrick, indicted on the charge that he murdered William M. Rice. Assistant District Attorney Osborne handed the witness a bottle of chloroform, a towel and a sponge and asked him to saturate the towel and sponge with chloroform, let them stand half an hour and then put a match to them. Charles F. Jones had testified that he burned the chloroformed saturated towel with which he said he killed Rice after it had been on Rice's face for half an hour. The defense objected and asked that two physicians, one for the prosecution and one for the defense, make the experiment with materials purchased by themselves. This was agreed to. The recorder directed that the experiment be made at the noon recess. The defense called Dr. Isaac Newton Love, professor of physical diagnosis and internal medicine at the post graduate hospital medical college.

In reply to a question reciting the evidence in the case and asking his opinion as to the cause of Rice's death, Dr. Love replied:

"Old age, edema and congestion of the lungs, crippled kidneys, a narrowing of the heart orifices and disease of the entire equipment of the man."

"Could the symptoms as described and revealed by the autopsy have resulted from the inhalation of chloroform vapor?" asked Mr. Moore of Patrick's counsel.

"They could not," replied Dr. Love.

Dr. Girdiner was recalled. He said the experiments with the towels soaked in chloroform had been finished. The first towel blazed for nine minutes, smouldered for 51 minutes and then went out. The second one burned slowly for 11 minutes and smouldered 54 minutes. One third of the material was consumed by the blaze in the first test and one fourth in the second one. The sponges used resisted the action of the fire better than the cotton material of the towel.

Assistant District Attorney Osborne produced a false beard and moustache mounted on wire and asked an opportunity to pour an ounce of chloroform on it and hang by a window to prove that the odor of the drug would not remain on the board for an hour as Dr. Curry, Rice's physician, said it would. The recorder would not agree to this and court adjourned until tomorrow.

WOMAN CONFESSES MURDERS IN BEAUMONT

By Associated Press

Beaumont, Tex., March 12.—Mattie Bennett confessed today to Sheriff Lindley that she was at the head of a gang of negro women and white men who had been for months luring men into her house, drugging them, beating them and robbing them. If they died the victims were dragged to the river and thrown in. If they were only stunned they were taken out of the house to a remote part of some street and left there for pedestrians or policemen to find.

A fear is felt that more than 12 men among those who have come to Beaumont and were afterward reported as missing have been murdered and their bodies are now at the bottom of the river. In the last three months at least 50 inquiries for missing men have been received and while no one supposes that the gang has murdered so many as 50 there is fear that some of the disappearances are due to their work. Five bodies have been found in the river since the first of the year.

The Bennett woman was arrested on Sunday on suspicion of being connected with the murder of Benjamin Pearson, one of the victims. She denies being guilty of this crime but admits that one of the gang of which she is a member discussed the commission of the deed. On the strength of her confession a white man, Punch Prom, and a negro woman, Mary Jane, have been arrested. All of them have been sweated and Sheriff Lindley states that he expects a full confession not only of the murder of Pearson but of others within a short time.

Sheriff Lindley is looking for two more negro women and six or eight white men, some of whom are wanted as witnesses.

SURPRISE IN LEGISLATURE

House Reversed Its Position Relative to Insurance Companies.

SIX SENATORS CHALLENGED

Senator Parks Protests That Those Directly Interested in Mining Could Not Vote on That Section.

Special to the Gazette

Denver, March 12.—This day was one of surprises at the state house and when night arrived the members of both houses were wondering where we are at. The house surprised itself and everybody else by killing the Martin bill increasing the tax on insurance companies from 2 to [illegible] per cent of their gross premiums while Senator Parks surprised the senate by presenting a protest against those members of the senate who are interested in mining property voting on the mining sections of the revenue bill. He claims that their votes would be unconstitutional.

The vote taken on the Martin bill was on third reading. This measure passed the house on second reading a few days ago with only eight votes recorded against it and today it was defeated as follows:

Ayes—Briscoe, Burwell, Cunningham, Davidson, Dinkel, Fall, Hart, Heartz, Judkins, Kennedy, Lyttle, Mantor, McGuire, Meredith, O'Connell, Park, Platt, Raney, Schweiger, Sprague, White, Willits, Mr. Speaker. Total 23.

Nays—Adams, Ballinger, Bartel, Bell, Beaty, Bolsinger, Bradley, Caley, Cannon, Carringer, Chisholm, Davis, Dickerson, Dunlavy, Fathes, Garcia, Gorman, Hammond, Hargis, Hollenbeck, Insley, Lewis, Lorber, Lubers, Madden, Martin, McLean, Morris, Onk, Pischke, Pochon, Riley, Sanchez, Smith, Taylor, Twombly. Total 38.

Absent—Montgomery (Larimer), Rawalt, Stubbs, Whitelaw.

A large number of those who changed their opinion during the time which elapsed between the two votes explained the change by saying that the senate had reinserted the flat tax in the revenue bill against the insurance companies and that this measure would mean a burden against the insurance companies. Those who supported the Martin bill today contended that while the senate had placed a flat tax against insurance companies in the revenue bill the chances were that it was only temporary and might not remain there. They contended that the senate was changing the revenue bill daily and that it is not assured that any section will stay. They insisted upon the passage of this bill with the understanding that if the senate finally adopted the flat tax against insurance companies a compromise could be reached. Their appeals however were in vain and the bill was killed.

Mr. Sprague, chairman of the committee on banking and insurance, which committee presented the bill to the house with the recommendation that it pass, voted for the bill on every stage. In his talks he said he wished to be just to the insurance companies as well as to all interested as to the matters of taxation. The house had voted to exempt insurance companies from the flat tax. He was in favor of abolishing all flat taxes but when the house exempted insurance companies from flat taxes it was only just that their income tax should be raised as taxes had been increased on every other moneyed interest. Mr. Sprague was amazed at the change in the vote on third reading.

The senate surprise occurred late in the afternoon. When the mining section was reached Senator Parks of Arapahoe offered his protest which affected the following senators: Ament, Buckley, Hallett, Newell, Roe and Seldomridge. The protest is as follows:

Denver, Colo., March 13, A. D. 1902.

"The undersigned, Fred W. Parks, a member of the state senate of Colorado, hereby protests against Senators S. I. Hallett, Samuel V. Newell, W. S. Buckley, H. H. Seldomridge, Thomas Ament and C. W. Roe, or any or either of them voting upon sections 81 and 84 inclusive of the house bill No. 1, known as the revenue law, and this protest is filed and applies to the voting of said senators either upon the second reading or final passage of said sections 81 to 84 inclusive, and the undersigned hereby protests and files this protest against any of the said named senators voting upon the final passage house bill No. 1 and as ground for said protest assigns the following reasons, to wit:

"Because said senators and each and every of them have a personal and private interest in said sections 81 to 84 inclusive of said house bill No. 1 and because said senators and each and every of them have a personal and private interest in house bill No. 1 in this, to wit:

"That each and all of said named senators are either owners of mining property in the state of Colorado, developed or undeveloped, or are holders of stock in a mining company or in mining companies in the state of Colorado or are superintending or managing mines or mining property situated in Colorado and have a direct and personal interest in that portion of said house bill No. 1 relating to mining property.

"In support of this protest I desire to cite article 1 of rule 16 of senate rules, as follows:

"'No senator shall be permitted to vote or serve on any committee on any question in the event of which other than a citizen he is individually interested.'

"Also section 1 of article 5 of the constitution of the state of Colorado providing as follows:

"'A member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the general assembly shall disclose the fact to the house of which he is a member and shall not vote thereon.'

"Respectfully submitted,

"FRED W. PARKS,

"Member of the First Senatorial District, Arapahoe County, Colorado."

Filed with the clerk of senate at 4:40 p. m. this 12th day of March, A. D. 1902.

FRED W. PARKS.

The surprise occasioned by this protest created somewhat a stir in the senate and it also created a war of words between Senator Taylor, who was in the chair, and the author of the protest. Senator Taylor ruled that the document was out of order while the senate was in the committee of the whole. Parks strenuously objected to this holding but finally yielded and introduced it later today.

Previous to this the senate adopted the Whitford amendment which gave the county assessors the power to assess the intangible value of inter-county corporations. It also adopted the Rush amendment prohibiting the state board of equalization from valuing street railways, etc. The other amendments which were introduced to this section of the bill were killed.

When the mining section was under discussion Senator Seldomridge moved to change the word locality to county in the section providing for the assessment of non producing claims. Senator Ammons opposed the change. He said it would decrease the mining property of Teller county $6,000,000. He explained that owing to the newness of the county the taxes were necessarily high and if the mining property was decreased $6,000,000 the amount of taxes to be gained therefrom would have to be made up from the other property of the county which would be unfair.

Senator Seldomridge supported his amendment. He did not believe the finance committee had given this particular feature of the bill careful consideration. He held that it gave the county assessors, especially in Teller county, the power to levy an unfair taxation on non productive mining property. He said the word locality might mean within the immediate neighborhood and that unproductive property within the immediate neighborhood of the Portland or other large mines could be unfairly valued. He contended that if the amendment prevailed there would be scores of non producing mines in Cripple Creek which would pay more than the producing mines. He argued that the large adjoining producing mines has called for more expenditures of money than the acreage of non producing lands that do not adjoin producing mines. He contended that the sale price of non producing claims did not always reflect its true value. He held that in Teller county a peculiar condition existed which under the law would value non producing claims higher than the same kind of property in any other county in the state. He had letters from the assessors of different counties showing what the non producing claims were assessed at. A few were as follows: La Plata, $10 each; Leadville, $50 to $100 per acre; Chaffee, $165 each; Clear Creek, $2.50 to $2.00 per claim. He held that the assessors in Teller county are discriminating in favor of the non producing claims while in Teller county the discrimination would be against them. He quoted extensively from [illegible] from the Teller county attorney sustaining his views. He used a number of statistics showing the valuation placed against non productive claims which in many instances was 10 claimed too high. He admitted that there were some claims in Teller county which could be assessed higher but in many cases they were assessed too high.

He said he was trying to frame an amendment which would catch those non productive claims which everybody knew were being assessed too low. His amendment changing the word locality to county was lost and the senate adjourned in order to try and draft some kind of an amendment particularly applicable to the non producing claims of Teller county.

The house spent the day on the third reading of bills. After killing the Martin bill it passed the Dickerson measure decreasing the charge for incorporating in this state 1 per cent and it also passed the Montgomery remedial bill providing for the collection of the 1901 corporation taxes.

DR. N. A. LANCASTER, a prominent physician and planter of Palmyra neighborhood.

Sixteen colored roustabouts and deck passengers whose names have not been reported.

The ill fated boat left here at noon yesterday on her regular trip, carrying a large miscellaneous cargo of freight and a large number of passengers. At 2 o'clock this morning just as the steamer was entering Lake Palmyra a sudden wind and rain storm of cyclonic proportions came out of the west catching the Providence broadside on. The little vessel was lifted almost entirely out of the water, her upper works blown away and the hull turned bottom up in 40 feet of water. Most of the crew and passengers were asleep at the time and had absolutely no chance of escape. Only nine of the boat's entire company were saved. The property loss will amount to several thousand dollars.

Messrs. Cassidy, Scott, Roup and Lancaster were all married men and leave large families. A steamer carrying coffins and divers left for the scene immediately and will attempt to recover all the bodies.

CRIPPLE CREEK NEWS NOTES

Moffett on Trial for Receiving Stolen Ore—Much Interest Manifested.

Cripple Creek Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette.

Cripple Creek, March 12.—The case of the People versus E. C. Moffett, the Independence assayer charged with receiving $100 worth of stolen ore, the property of Stratton's Independence, Ltd., came up for trial in the district court today with E. C. Stimson and F. J. Hangs defending and Deputy District Attorney Cole and Attorneys Crump and Finn representing the state. A jury was selected as follows: R. Gagen, L. P. Paxton, O. P. Hine, W. W. Coolbaugh, W. L. H. Miller, C. A. Bowen, J. W. Chisholm, James F. Kelly, Richard Jewell, William Lynett, F. M. Schick and Dan Harper.

The old point of law that has stood in the way of the state in convicting ore thieves in like cases was brought out today by Attorney Stimson, who about one year ago successfully advocated the same point while defending Dan Styne, charged with ore stealing from the same company interested in the present case. Attorney Stimson old the distinction between trespass and larceny. He held that the ore stolen from the Independence mine by Kuykendall, Lake and Freidenstein was not personal property. He held that this ore was real estate, and as a result no larceny was committed as it was not possible to take real estate and commit a larceny. The attorney further stated that the three men who took this ore were only guilty of trespass. Following down this line of reasoning Mr. Stimson stated that as there was no larceny, the defendant Moffett could not be guilty of receiving stolen ore.

John C. Freidenstein, who turned state's evidence and helped to convict his pals, Kuykendall and Lake, was the principal witness for the state today. He practically told the same story in the witness box as did Attorney Crump in his opening address before the jury. The story was that on December 6, 1901, Kuykendall, Lake and Freidenstein had established in Cripple Creek headquarters for ore stealing. These headquarters were located on May avenue in this city. They continued operations against Stratton's Independence, Ltd., until January 1[illegible] of this year, when arrested. The witness stated that the defendant Moffett kept a "fence" where the three ore thieves on different occasions, but especially on December 6, 1901, sold $100 worth of stolen ore. Moffett would wait at his office for the ore thieves and when they appeared would weigh their ore and give them a small portion of money. Attorney Crump stated that Moffett was very careful that the ore was receipted for under assumed names. This was done in order to evade the law. The attorney held that Kuykendall was the leader of the band of thieves and being acquainted with Moffett took his receipts under an assumed name.

Freidenstein stated that on December 6 last, he with his two pals boarded an electric car at 1:23 a. m., went to the fourth level in Stratton's Independence property, secured three sacks of high-grade ore, and at 6:30 o'clock in the morning went to Moffett's office in Independence and sold the ore. There were three sacks of high grade and when final settlement had been made the three men had secured $69. Frank Clark, Robert Seaton, Mrs. Starks, Superintendent Shipman of the Independence, and Conductor Graves had testified when the state closed its case.

Attorney Stimson then moved for a dismissal upon the grounds that no testimony had been introduced to show that larceny had been committed; no evidence to show that any ore was stolen, that the evidence did show that real estate had been taken, and o'clock tomorrow morning. This question was discussed at some length and the jury was excused until 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. This evening the discussion was resumed and authorities were quoted at length to the court. The defense held that in order to have committed larceny, the three thieves would have had to break down the ore, abandon it for a few hours and then take it away. The continued act of breaking down and carrying away was held by the attorneys for the defense to be only a trespass. Judge Seeds stated that the contention of the attorneys for the defense was correct according to law, and further stated that if the law was not good, it is the duty of the lawmakers to correct it. Judge Cunningham decided in the same manner in the Styne case. Attorney Crump gave notice that Friedenstein would be put back upon the stand to show that the acts of breaking down and carrying away the ore were not continuous. Attorney Crump's contention is that if the ore lay upon the floor in the stope at all that it was a personal property of Stratton's Independence. Judge Seeds did not finally decide the question tonight, but will when the question of allowing Friedenstein to return to the witness box is decided.

A. E. Carlton today in the county clerk's office filed a statement addressed to the M. T. R. R. Co., in which it is stated that there is still due him upon the contract of conditional sale dated September 1, 1899, $50,000 yet unpaid. The statement filed today is in reality an extension of time upon a chattel mortgage. Mr. Carlton purchased for the railroad company one locomotive from the Schenectady Locomotive works for $12,250, and box cars costing $120,000. The railroad company agrees to pay for this rolling stock at the rate of $2,000 per month, beginning October 1, 1899. The railroad company gave Mr. Carlton as trustee 60 promissory notes of $2,000 each, and of this amount, the statement today shows that just one-half remains unpaid.

J. M. Hodgson, the attorney who was interested in the Kuykendall-Lake case and who was arrested and placed in the county jail upon the charge of subornation of perjury, was released today upon furnishing $3,000 bond. The bond is signed by L. J. Cella, Jack Dalton and Eugene Engley.

Thomas Scott commenced action in the district court today against the Cripple Creek Sampling & Ore Co. and Henderson & Blair, co-partners. The plaintiff alleges that on January 17, 1902, he secured a lease from the Jerry Johnson company upon the dump at the Ryan shaft of the Arapahoe lode on Bull hill. Plaintiff further alleges that notwithsanding his lease upon the property, Henderson & Blair shipped $115 worth of ore from the dump. He asks that he be given judgment for this amount and that the court issue an injunction restraining Henderson & Blair from receiving the value of this ore, which was shipped to the Cripple Creek Sampling & Ore Co. and that they be restrained from interfering with him at his lease.

A mining deed was filed today in which R. W. Hadden transfers to Maynard Gunsel, 3-24 interest in the Minerva placer and Minerva lode for a consideration of $1.

Parson Holmes was found not guilty in Justice Harrington's court today of cruelty to animals. Holmes is a colored preacher and the jury asked that the court reprimand him for keeping the "plugs" he drives about town. In this court James Pickens was arrested upon complaint of Mrs. Maggie Kurtz. Pickens is charged with beating a board bill amounting to $8.50. He gave bond.

A location certificate for the Indian Pink lodes Nos. 1 and 2 was filed today by Charles R. Dean.

John Fraser and his wife Mary, both colored residents of Poverty gulch, were found guilty today in Justice McCullah's court of disturbing the peace. The woman was given 30 days in the county jail, but sentence was suspended during good behavior. Her husband has not yet been sentenced.

Out-of-town arrivals at the National hotel today were: W. H. Spurgeon; C. C. Hamlin, I. M. V. Andre, Thomas Hext, M. C. Gile, S. F. Pattison, A. B. Ridgway and C. M. Moses of Colorado Springs; E. J. GOOD WORK.

Proper Food Makes Marvelous Changes.

Providence is sometimes credited with directing the footsteps by so simple a way as the reading of a food advertisement.

A lady out in Shelbina, Mo., says: "About two years ago I was compelled to retire from my school teaching because I was completely broken down with nervous prostration.

"I suffered agony in my back. My hands and feet would swell up nights. I was in a dreadfully nervous condition, irritable, with a dull heavy headache continually, had no appetite and could not digest anything if I tried. I was unable to remember what I read and was, of course, unfit for my work.

"Some said I had consumption, others said dropsy. One day, as if by providence, I read the testimonial of a lady whose symptoms were much the same as mine, and she told of how Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food had cured her, so I concluded to try it.

"I left off the old fashioned breakfast and began with Grape-Nuts, a little fruit and a cup of Postum Food Coffee. That was eight months ago and I have steadily improved in both body and mind. Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food has done more for me than all the medicine I have ever taken, and I am now well again and able to return once more to my school duties and able to do anything necessary in my work.

"My mind is clearer and my body stronger than ever before. Please do not publish my name." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

DEPEW'S ADDRESS ON SHIP SUBSIDY BILL

By Associated Press.

Washington, March 12.—Again today the ship subsidy bill occupied practically the entire time of the senate. Mr. McCumber of North Dakota presented a carefully prepared argument in which, as a representative of an agricultural state, he favored the bill on the ground of its protective features.

Mr. Depew of New York, one of the members of the committee on commerce, delivered an elaborate speech in which he analyzed the arguments for and against the position to pay subsidies to the shipping industry. His peroration, in which he pictured in glowing language the results of the operation of the bill, elicited hearty applause from the galleries.

A few bills were passed, including one providing for the redemption of Hawaiian silver coins and the substitution therefor of American silver coins.

Soon after the senate convened Mr. Rawlins (Utah) introduced a resolution which was passed directing the secretary of war to send to the senate the reports of Inspectors Carpenter and Maus and any other information he may have in relation to the transports between the United States and the Philippines, especially regarding free transportation for individuals.

Mr. Cullom, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, reported favorably a bill authorizing the president to extend to the government of France an invitation to join the government and people of the United States in the dedication of the monument of Count de Rochambeau to be unveiled in this city on May 24 next.

Mr. Hoar (Mass.) offered an amendment including in the invitation the family of the Marquis de Lafayette. He paid a tribute to Lafayette and urged that his amendment was peculiarly pertinent. The amendment was agreed to, and, as amended, the bill was passed.

At the conclusion of routine business the senate resumed consideration of the ship subsidy bill. Mr. McCumber (N. D.) speaking in support of the measure. He said he represented an agricultural state, interested only indirectly in the shipping industry, but he favored the passage of the bill because he believed the results of its operation would have been beneficial not only to his constituents, but to the people of the entire country.

He maintained that it would be just as proper to remove the protective tariff duties from products produced in this country as it would be to refuse to offer to the shipping industry the protection afforded by this bill.

With the subsidy provided by the bill, he thought, in the course of 15 years the United States would be able to compete with the world in the ship building industry.

What the agriculturists of the west and northwest most desired today was an opening to the Pacific—the oriental—trade.

In conclusion Mr. McCumber characterized the bill as a right step toward reinstating our lost prestige on the seas.

A resolution by Mr. Spooner was adopted, directing the secretary of the treasury to report to the senate the amount of the mail pay now authorized by law and also whether the payments are more or less in effect than the subsidy rates provided by the subsidy bill of 1899.

Mr. Depew then addressed the senate in favor of the bill. Senators had criticised the bill, he said, but none of them had submitted any plan by which we could have a mail service which would be equal to that of Great Britain, Germany or France. We are, he maintained, contributing millions of dollars annually to increase still further the mail facilities and enlarge the merchant marine of these competing countries, thus greatly increasing the distance which the American merchant marine must traverse before it can be equal to that of the countries named.

He presented figures to show that the arguments of the opponents of the bill as to the prosperity of American ship yards were not well founded. He declared that vessels aggregating 83,060 tons had been constructed in American ship yards for the foreign trade during the past 10 years, while in Great Britain during one year—the last year available in statistics—1,500,000 tons of ships had been constructed. He suggested that the difference between these figures was so extraordinary that the opposition senators ought to post them up in their committee rooms as a constant reminder of the decline of the American merchant marine.

During the past decade, Mr. Depew said, $3,300,000,000 had been invested by American capitalists in manufacturing industries. Vast sums had been invested in railroads and mines.

Similar immense sums had not gone into American shipping because figures could not be produced which would show the investor that he could get his money back, not to mention a fair return upon his investment.

Mr. Depew referred to the subsidies paid by Great Britain, Germany and France as having contributed largely to the extension of the merchant marine of those nations.

"One of the most enlightened and progressive rulers of the old world," said he, "is the present emperor of Germany. Within the last 10 years he has brought Germany to practically a unanimous support of subsidies by which the German merchant marine has rapidly overtaken that of Great Britain."

No dissenting voice now was ever heard among the German leaders against the value of these subsidies. Germany was commercially independent, for now wherever the German merchant went he was followed by the German subsidized mails and merchant vessels. That enlightened policy Mr. Depew hoped to see this country accept.

"If we have on the ocean," said he, "an adequate merchant marine, it is difficult to picture the benefit to American labor which would accrue from the employment of our $500,000,000 of trade balance in our own industries and among our own people."

A bill relating to the redemption of Hawaiian silver coins and silver certificates and the substitution therefor of American silver coins was passed, after the section giving the territorial government of Hawaii the benefit of the seigniorage had been stricken out. A bill was passed amending the revised statutes so as to allow each major-general of the army to have three aides and each brigadier-general two aides, who may be selected by them from captains or lieutenants. A joint resolution was agreed to authorizing army and navy officers who served in the Chinese campaign in 1900 to wear the distinctive badges of the organizations to which they belong on all occasions of ceremony.

At 4:20 o'clock the senate, on motion of Mr. Cockrell, went into executive session, and at 4:23 p. m. adjourned.

NATURAL GAS STRUCK AT GRAND JUNCTION

Special to the Gazette.

Grand Junction, March 12.—At an early hour this morning a good flow of natural gas was struck in the well of the Grand Valley Oil & Gas company. Alexander Struthers has resigned as master mechanic of the railroad shops in this city, after serving in that capacity for the past 12 years.

UNLIMITED FAITH IN THE BOULDER FIELDS

Special to the Gazette.

Boulder, March 12.—Mr. C. G. McAfee, one of the owners of the Premium, which is now down 400 feet, in discussing the present situation of the prospects of the oil field, said: "Things are somewhat quiet just now and probably will be until another well or two comes in. I was at Beaumont during the early days and saw the same there. The first gusher came in in January and after the first excitement was over, things were pretty quiet until April, when the next well came in. Then the boom began in earnest. This same condition of affairs seems to prevail here at present, but another well or two will start things going again." The Cleveland company was organized by Mr. McAfee and a few associates to sink a well on land about 2,000 feet west of the McKenzie, which he controls, and is one of the few companies whose stock was not offered for sale. These men believe in going in for a big stake and so take all the chances in sinking the well and if successful will reap all the profits. Mr. McAfee has unlimited faith in the Boulder fields and is preparing to put down two more wells on other property which he controls within a short time.

There is no news of any importance from any of the other wells today, except that drilling is going on steadily. The Alamo reports a depth of 1,200 feet, the Keystone 625 and the Boulder Basin 590 feet.

WESTERNS OPPOSE FOREST RESERVE BILL

Special to the Gazette.

Washington, D. C., March 12.—The report of the house public lands committee upon the Lacey bill transferring control of the forest reserves from the interior to the agricultural department indicates that the bill will pass congress as it has the support of the president and both the interior and agricultural departments. Western members voted against a favorable report and Shafroth, Mondell and Jones of Washington will make a minority report opposing the bill. After the meeting of the committee today Mr. Shafroth said that the bill is not a good measure as it will create two bureaus, inasmuch as supervision of forests outside the reserves will still be in control of the interior department. It will thus result in conflict between rangers and other employes, one department against employes of the other and the whole tendency will be toward confusion.

Organization of New National Bank

The First National bank of Colorado City will be open for business within a short time. The promoters of the new institution have already secured headquarters for the institution on Colorado avenue and as soon as a building association is incorporated in connection with the bank and fixtures for the place of business secured a regular banking business will be begun.

Among the promoters of the national bank are Edgar T Ensign W F Armstrong Willis R Armstrong Anthony Bott Judge Louis W Cunningham Joseph P Jackson R. J Johnson R Ernest Johnson and Earl C Hemly. A number of other Colorado City people will be stockholders. The location for the new bank is desirable being at a corner on Colorado avenue with a frontage of 90 feet on that thoroughfare.

A number of those interested are connected with the Assurance Savings and Loan Association of Colorado Springs. The association and the new bank will be practically under the same management.

One of the promoters of the bank said yesterday

A recent dispatch from Washington stated that the comptroller of the currency had authorized the establishment of 'The First National Bank of Colorado City' and gave some of the particulars. In October last J V McDowell and others made application for permit to organize a national bank at Colorado City. They failed however to perfect their organization within the period allowed by law and so forfeited the privilege.

The present movement for a national bank has been quietly worked up during the last few weeks and the application for authority to organize was approved last Friday. The institution will be both strong and conservative. It will occupy a good field and its success seems assured. An auxiliary association for building purposes will be incorporated under the state law.

Colorado City is now recognized as one of the progressive towns of the state and this latest move clearly indicates the strong faith in its future entertained by the people of this locality."

Woodmen Discuss the Building Proposition

At a meeting of Pikes Peak camp Woodmen of the World last night the plans of the Woodmen building association for the raising of $100 000 for the purchase of a site and the erection of a temple for the order in Colorado Springs was enthusiastically indorsed. Samuel J. Hamilton who organized the association presented his report and outlined plans for the future and the directors reported on the constitution and by laws.

The plans have become so far advanced that a meeting of the directors of the building association will be held soon for the purpose of discussing sites for the temple. It is probable that a site for the new building will be chosen at this meeting.

The attendance at the meeting of the camp last night was large. Mr Hamilton gave details of the organization of the building association whose directors are many of the most prominent members of the Woodmen order in Colorado Springs. The capitalization of the association is $100 000 and up to last night over $20 000 worth of stock had been subscribed.

The board of directors presented its report on the constitution and by laws. The reports of both Mr Hamilton and the directors were adopted with enthusiasm and papers were circulated for the subscription of stock. It is said that over $2 000 was raised last night.

The Dana Lease Again Referred

The Dana Prospect lake lease proposition was again before the council last night. It was referred to the public grounds committee for revision being too indefinite and uncertain to pass in its present form.

There was a conflict between different sections of the measure relative to the disposition of the property and improvements at the expiration of the nine years term for which the lease is asked. There was an uncertainty as to the extent to which the lessees would be entitled to the use of water from the city water system and there was in the opinion of some of the aldermen necessity for a provision limiting the right to cut ice from the lake for use by the holders of the amusement concessions under the lease.

Plats of Hutchinson's and Dawson's subdivisions were submitted and approved.

The street commissioner was authorized to dispose of a mule that belongs to his department and to purchase another team.

Property owners on Pikes Peak avenue between Tejon street and the post office were given permission to put in a vitrified brick and stone crossing across the avenue for the accommodation of the public the work to be done under the supervision of the city engineer and to be of no expense to the city.

The city clerk was authorized to serve notice on the owners of certain property on North Weber street in the vicinity of the Steele school that the sidewalks must be repaired or put in to protect the school children from mud. The McFerran estate and the Colorado Springs company are said to be the owners of the property.

The finance committee was authorized to hold a conference with former City Attorney W. S. Morris relative to the settlement of his claim for fees during his term of office.

A Reasonable License for Dealing in Junk

[illegible] old iron [illegible] any other [illegible] the usefulness of which for anything at all [illegible] its uselessness for anything [illegible] furnished food for thought for the Colorado Springs board [illegible] men for about an hour last night.

[illegible] might this promiscuous [illegible] known [illegible] the [illegible] world is junk furnish food [illegible] thought for [illegible] however [illegible] recently an attorney representing numerous members of the junk [illegible] in this city be true the state [illegible] that the [illegible] in Colorado Springs [illegible] less than [illegible] who are living on junk.

Whether it be [illegible] is [illegible] but that it is an important factor in the business life of the community was evident from the amount of attention that it received.

The ordinance providing for a license [illegible] by dealers in junk was before the council. It was discussed by nearly all the members and from as many standpoints as there were members present. The ordinance provided that a license of $100 per year be imposed [illegible] there were advocates of the policy of the free and unrestricted traffic in junk the business to be subject however to strict police regulation and control. One alderman who had had 600 pounds of lead pipe stolen from a [illegible] residence in Broadmoor who had [illegible] 600 pounds more out the next day [illegible] buried it only to find nothing but a [illegible] when he [illegible] the third day and digged [illegible] the business regulated in such a way as to take lead in 1,200 [illegible] lots out of the junk classification and put it in that of stolen property.

Another wanted the license low enough so that [illegible] would not be perpetuated [illegible] the Colorado Springs public [illegible] junk trust grasping and grinding in [illegible] and empowered to take the food out of the mouths of the little ones of the families now existing on this commodity—this man [illegible] and there were advocates of high license in junk because a low license permitted Denver and Pueblo junk institutions to come to Colorado Springs and take tremendous junks out of the trade of the local dealers whose legitimate junk held this is.

After an hour of discussion of this momentous problem as a result of which a cross section of the mind of any member of the council taken by X rays would have left the scientist uncertain whether he was examining a 10 cent order of restaurant hash or a junk pile as big as Alderman Capell's reel pile one of the members of the council suggested that settling the junk question was harder than getting through the front doors of the postoffice and the matter was referred to the ordinance committee. The police committee and the city attorney who will pick it over some time before the next meeting and report to the council what they have discovered.

Cuban Conference

House Republicans Again Adjourned Without Taking Any Definite Action—Mr. Sibley's Compromise.

By Associated Press

Washington March 11—The fourth conference of the house Republicans on the reciprocity question was fruitless like those that preceded it the conference adjourning at midnight until next Tuesday. The victory was with the advocates of reciprocity, as the motion to adjourn was carried 72 to 64 and after a motion to amend the motion to make it a sine die adjournment offered by Mr Littlefield of Maine one of the leaders of the opposition, had been voted down 61 to 79. The motion to adjourn was made by Speaker Henderson and the opponents of reciprocity claim after the adjournment that some of their friends did not care of offend the speaker by declining to heed this appeal for a further conference. Earlier in the evening the opponents of reciprocity had insisted on a vote tonight upon the main proposition. The session tonight was a stormy one. Mr Sibley of Pennsylvania offered a compromise proposition for reciprocity agreement to last until December 1 1903, which he claimed had the approval and indorsement of President Roosevelt. He also said he had assurances that if the house granted a 20 per cent concession the senate would not increase it.

About 130 members were present at the conference. Speaker Henderson and the leaders on both sides of the controversy were in attendance.

Representative Hitt of Illinois presided and an arrangement was made for a division of time between the advocates and opponents of reciprocity. Representative Long of Kansas a member of the ways and means committee opened with an exhaustive argument in favor of the 20 per cent concession advocated by his colleagues of the ways and means committee. He argued that the maintenance of a protective tariff was not involved in the proposition of the ways and means committee but that the policy of reciprocity was.

The defeat of this bill said he means that the Republican party has refused to follow the leadership of Blaine of McKinley and of Roosevelt and it would mean that reciprocity was no longer a part of the Republican faith.

He pointed out that the Republican platform of 1896 referred to the repeal of the reciprocity agreements under the McKinley law as a national calamity and demanded their renewal and extension. The original section of the Dingley bill authorizing reciprocity agreements he recalled named sugar as one of the articles on which the president was authorized to change the duties, but the section was changed in the senate and sugar was stricken out. The law authorized the president to make reciprocal agreements on articles produced in this country and President McKinley made agreements with France, Germany Italy and Portugal that were now in force so he maintained that those who favored reciprocity with Cuba were not untrue to the doctrines of the Republican party because tobacco and sugar produced in this country were included. Moreover, he insisted that the hearings before the committee on ways and means showed conclusively that concessions made on Cuban sugar would not affect the price of sugar in this country and the beet sugar industry would not be injured. A reduction of 20 per cent on Cuban sugar leaving the duty on such sugar at $1 34 per 100 pounds would not enable the Cuban after paying freight rates and cost of refining to compete with the beet sugar in Chicago Kansas City or Denver which are the principal markets for beet sugar. He espoused reciprocity with Cuba, he said, not only because it would be helpful to Cuba but because he believed we would get an adequate return and on support of that belief he instanced the result of the reciprocity with Cuba under McKinley law from September 1, 1891 to August 27, 1894. Under that law sugar molasses, coffee and hides were admitted free and in return Spain made concessions on our products entering Cuba. The results were demonstrated in the fact that our exports to Cuba increased from $12 224 888 in 1891 to $24 157 698 in 1893. In 1896, after the agreement was abrogated they had fallen to $7,530,880. Our exports to Cuba were now only $28,078,702 out of a total of $65,060,141.

The witness before the committee on ways and means, he said, stated that with prosperity in Cuba the importations of that island would amount to from 150,000 000 to 200,000,000 annually. This, he argued, was the trade that Cuba offered us in return for concessions on sugar and tobacco. This was not charity. It was a good bargain. Mr. Long contended that in addition to self interest there was a moral obligation upon the United States to grant concessions. He declared that when the commission from Cuba was prevailed upon to accept the Platt amendment President McKinley assured them that in consideration of its acceptance he would do all possible to effect economic concessions and that the commission so reported to the Cuban convention. In conclusion Mr Long said:

"If this legislation fail and no concession be made to Cuba—if the policy of President McKinley and President Roosevelt be defeated by this house—it does not mean that the beet sugar industry by the control of this house can prevent free sugar from Cuba. After the establishment of the republic of Cuba a treaty can be negotiated with that country by the president.

That treaty can provide for the annexation of Cuba as the recent treaty did for the annexation of the Danish West Indies and that treaty can be submitted to the senate and be ratified. The moment that the ratifications are exchanged under the decision of the supreme court in the Puerto Rican case we would have free trade with Cuba on all products. The house would be powerless to prevent it.

So this house is not supreme and it does not control or dominate this situation. It would be the part of wisdom for the beet sugar interests to agree to a reasonable concession that would not injure their industry in the remotest degree rather than to be compelled to accept possible annexation in the immediate future. Annexation will come in the not far distant future but when it does come I want it to come by the free act of the Cuban people and when they come permanently under our flag I do not want them to feel they were victims of forcible annexation which President McKinley characterized as 'Criminal aggression.'"

When Mr Long finished speaking Mr Taylor of Ohio presented a protest against the plan of the ways and means committee. The protest was drafted at the conference which the Republicans opposed to reciprocity held last night. It was in the nature of a manifesto setting out the grounds on which their opposition was based being largely an amplification of the contention that a reduction of the duty on Cuban products involved a relaxation of the protective principle. In lieu of the Fawney proposition for a rebate Mr Taylor offered the following resolution:

Resolved first. That we reaffirm our adherence to the Republican national platform of 1896 insuring adequate protection to the cane and beet sugar industries in the United States and to the policy of reciprocity as declared in our platform of 1900.

Second. That we have maintained and will continue to faithfully discharge the obligation to Cuba assured by virtue of the treaty of Paris and the Platt amendment and that we favor such commercial agreements with her as her government when established may be willing to make and which will be in harmony with our national policy of protection and reciprocity.

Third. That no further action be taken respecting the proposition to reduce the tariff on Cuban products coming into this country.

In concluding his statement Mr Taylor announced that he would demand a vote on his resolution. Mr Taylor received a round of applause when he concluded.

After considerable discussion Speaker Henderson came forward with a plea for party harmony and unity and moved that the caucus adjourn until next Tuesday.

Mr Littlefield of Maine countered this stroke by proposing to amend the speaker's motion so as to eliminate Tuesday which if carried would have resulted in a sine die adjournment of the caucus. The amendment was lost 61 to 79 and then the speaker's motion to adjourn until next Tuesday prevailed 72 to 54. The beet sugar advocates claim a strength greater than the vote showed, saying the speaker's appeal carried enough votes to cause another recess. During the caucus it developed that the administration was inclined to accept the Sibley proposition.

President Roosevelt's First Veto Message

By Associated Press

Washington March 11—President Roosevelt today sent his first veto message to congress. It was directed to the senate and the bill vetoed was one removing the charge of desertion from the naval record of John Glass. The message was as follows:

There can be no graver crime than the crime of desertion from the army or navy especially during war. It is then high treason to the nation and is justly punishable by death. No man should be relieved from such a crime especially when nearly 40 years have passed since it occurred save on the clearest possible proof of his innocence. In this case the statement made by the affiant before the committee does not in all points agree with his statement made to the secretary of the navy. In any event it is incomprehensible to me that he should not have made effective effort to get back into the navy. He had served but little more than a month when he deserted and the war lasted for over a year afterward yet he made no effort whatever to get back into the war. Under such circumstances it seems to me that to remove the charge of desertion from the navy and give him an honorable discharge would be to falsify the records and do an injustice to his gallant and worthy comrades who fought the war to a finish. The names of the veterans who fought in the civil war make the honor list of the republic, and I am not willing to put upon it the name of a man unworthy of the high position.

"Theodore Roosevelt."

After the message had been delivered Senator Gallinger from the committee on naval affairs read the report of the committee on which the senate acted. From that statement it appeared that Glass enlisted in January, 1864 when only 16 years old and that having witnessed an act which compromised the second officer of the ship, he was taken ashore in March of that year by that officer and told not to report again for duty. The committee say that this order together with Glass youth was responsible for his desertion.

TERRITORY AND TERRITORIES.

AN EXCHANGE suggests a new but forceful reason why Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona should be admitted to statehood at this session of congress. It is that the newer dependencies of the United States, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, the Philippines, Guam, Alaska, and probably the Danish islands, occupy a different relation to the nation from the organized Territories to which we have been accustomed. A Territory is an inchoate state and the word has a distinct and specific meaning in American politics, different from the word territory in its ordinary sense. The completion of the process of state making for Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona rounds out the national territory and leaves no other part of it on the same footing of partial and imperfect statehood. It will simplify matters very much, prevent a misunderstanding among the people of the states and the dependencies and make it much easier for congress to deal with new problems if our Territories are thus finally disposed of.

This reason would lose much of its force if the three Territories mentioned were not competent for statehood. They are qualified for such a dignity by population, wealth and ability for self-government, and therefore the additional reason that their admission would be an advantage by clearing up the Territorial complication in our national system is entitled to full consideration.

GHOSTS AND ALTITUDE.

SOME DAY in the future some philosopher will write a book to explain the reason why there are no ghosts west of the 100th meridian. What that valuable volume will contain we do not venture to predict. It is possible that altitude will be given as the cause, it may be a question of relative humidity, or it is possible that a continuation of settlement for a certain number of decades is essential to the proper development of ghost stories.

The fact remains that in Colorado and to the best of our knowledge in other Rocky Mountain states, there is a surprising absence of well authenticated spooks, specters, hobgoblins and other things of the sort. And this lack is the more astonishing because mountainous countries have been favorite domiciles for ghosts in Europe, and we are firmly set in our belief that Colorado has everything that any other country has.

A few years ago there was a ghost in the east side of Colorado Springs. It used to walk along the Santa Fe track near where a girl had been killed, and groan. But instead of writing a poem about it, the police arrested the ghost and her friends had to pay a fine to get her out of jail. And last summer there was a very pretty ghost up in Douglas county that was captured by some railroad men and sent to the insane asylum.

It is such facts as these that are discouraging home industry in ghosts.

The proper thing to do when you see a specter is to put something over your head and holler. If you cannot get anything over your head, shut your eyes and holler anyhow. A proper pursuit of this policy will quickly people our ghostless solitudes and give us a crop of legends that will be the delight of succeeding generations of tourists.

The great trouble is that people here are not romantic enough. If a man is going home along a lonely road and sees something white, his first thought is that that fool calf has got loose again. Such a spirit is not conducive to legendary lore. If a lonely woman at night hears a weird howl, instead of trembling in terror she goes and throws something at the cat. If the hero of Sleepy Hollow had lived on the banks of the Arkansas he would have worn a six shooter and someone would have carried lead thereafter.

Some years ago in the east scientific investigation developed the surprising fact that no one had ever seen the ghost of a negro. To this should now be added the further fact that there is no well-authenticated case of a ghost west of the 100th meridian or at an altitude of more than 1,500 feet above sea level.

Can it be that it is another case of a bacillus that cannot live in our climate?

OUR DUTY TO CUBA.

THE fight being made by the representatives of the western sugar beet growers owes its strength to two main facts. One of these is, that special and positive promises of protection have been made by the Republican party to the sugar beet industry, and the other is that the party in power cannot afford to abandon the protective policy, or to deny to the western beet growers the protection which has produced such beneficent results in other industries.

Aside from these it is clearly evident that it is grossly unfair for the nation to pay its debt to Cuba by robbing the western beet growers and destroying their industry.

These things are true regardless of whether we owe a duty to the Cubans that has not been discharged. Upon this point there is something to be said. The United States at great cost has delivered Cuba from Spanish tyranny. It has cleansed the cities, destroyed the yellow fever, established schools, maintained good government in the provinces and cities, and has given to the people free self-government, such as would not have been accorded to them under like circumstances by any great nation of the world. These things may fairly be considered to be a considerable part of the duty we have owed to Cuba and it is incumbent upon the advocates of tariff reduction to show the necessity for throwing open the markets of the United States to the cane growers of the island before we are willing to admit that this is required of us.

It is claimed that the sugar plantations of Cuba since the close of the war are in a most distressful condition, but the evidence of this fact is not forthcoming. Among the witnesses before the ways and means committee was Mr. Lewis V. Place, a Havana merchant, and Mr. Miguel Mendoza a Cuban planter, who were there for the purpose of urging tariff concessions. Mr. Place's testimony in part was as follows.

Mr. Place—I would like to know what we can do if we cannot sell our sugar?

Mr. Tawney—That condition does not exist today.

Mr. Place—It is approaching, yes, sir; and we come here to look for a remedy before we get there.

Mr. Tawney—You are familiar with the industrial conditions of the island?

Mr. Place—Yes, sir.

Mr. Tawney—At the present time, outside of Havana, there is no labor that is idle or unemployed?

Mr. Place—The Central railroad of Cuba will take any man who wants to work.

Mr. Tawney—You are simply anticipating an industrial depression in consequence of the present low price of sugar resulting from the overproduction of sugar throughout the world?

Mr. Place—Yes, sir, and that is the only thing we fear. The vital question in Cuba is the sugar question.

Mr. Tawney—If you undertook, or the conditions were such as would encourage the further development of sugar, you would have to import labor?

Mr. Place—Yes, sir.

Mr. Tawney—Where would you get the labor from?

Mr. Place—We would like to get the laborers from Spain or the Canaries. We cannot get labor from the United States at $25 per month, for they would not go down there for that amount.

Mr. Mendoza, who is the owner of 27,000 acres of sugar lands in Cuba gave testimony as follows:

Mr. Tawney—Is the laboring class generally employed in the island outside of Havana?

Mr. Mendoza—It is. All the sugar plantations are working by this time. They are all employed. There is plenty of work for the workmen in Cuba today.

Mr. Tawney—Then this condition of hunger or starvation which you have just outlined or detailed here does not exist today, does it?

Mr. Mendoza—Not yet. It will exist.

In addition to these statements before the house committee, we have the testimony of a recent letter written from Havana by a business man in search of reliable facts connected with the tobacco situation in Cuba, and quoted by the American Economist:

I have traveled pretty well through the tobacco district, and the cutting in the Vuelta Abajo is going on at a great rate, but the crop will be very small, and I am afraid the entire crop of the island will not be more than one half of what it was last year. Labor is very scarce and high, even to harvesting this small crop. The Cuban will only work sufficient to enable him to live, and the negro manages to live without working. In old tobacco I find a large corporation who had 10,000 bales here has added another 12,000 bales to its holdings, and is waiting the lowering of the duty in order to ship. Good old tobacco is very scarce and high. Plenty of trash, however, which nobody wants at any price. The trouble is not so much an industrial one in Cuba, but one of finance. The Spaniards as they left the island took about two hundred millions of capital with them to Spain, and it has not been replaced, and hence it is, in my opinion, not so much a question of reciprocity as it is capital to advance to those engaged in the industry. That, I think, is the crying need.

The facts as presented show that the chief difficulty in Cuba at the present time is due to a lack of sufficient capital, and to a lack of laborers, who are willing to do the work required of them. If Cuba is importing laborers for her sugar fields from Spain and elsewhere, there does not seem to be any special necessity for tariff reduction, and if the benefit of a reduction is to go to the sugar trust, which has options on thousands of tons of raw sugar now awaiting shipment, it does not appear how the reduction would be of any help to the planters or the laborers in Cuba.

Whichever way the situation is viewed, the beet sugar growers seem to have the best of it. The only sensible thing for the Republican party to do, and the only thing it can do consistently and honorably, is to stand fast by the policy of protection and to keep the pledges under which the western sugar growers have invested their capital, and undertaken to build up the sugar industry with free white labor on American soil.

AN OMEN AT ALBANY.

THAT was a very pretty story about Prince Henry's breaking Washington's will by drawing from the scabbard the sword given to Washington by Frederick the Great, which, it was provided, should only be unsheathed in defense of the country.

As a matter of fact if the country had to depend upon swords, historical or otherwise, it would not stand much show in these days of smokeless powder and submarine torpedoes, but there was a pretty sentiment about the sword and the story connected with it, and doubtless many good Americans had cold chills over the thought of what the omen might mean.

But now comes Frank E. Marshall of Philadelphia and declares that the gift of Frederick the Great to Washington was not a sword at all, but a portrait bearing the inscription, "From the oldest king of Europe to the greatest commander of the century."

As for the omen at Albany, we indorse the Hibernian opinion that it will be much easier to predict what it means after it has happened.

More trouble for unhappy Spain is in store, according to a recent news letter. It is said that the youthful king is "incapacitated" for the performance of his official duties and that it will be necessary to prolong the regency. Just what is the nature of the incapacity, and whether physical or mental, is not stated. The subject is said to be involved in mystery and the sending of dispatches upon the subject is forbidden by the royal censor.

The Denver chamber of commerce has sent out a circular letter to different cities of the state asking what manufacturing or other enterprises could be started of value to particular districts and what natural resources could be developed. That is the sort of a spirit that should be shown by all the leading cities of the state, and if Denver had had more of that disposition in the past it would be much better for her now. But it is never too late to reform.

Oil Contracts Wanted.

Aspen, March 10, 1902.

To the Editor of the Gazette.

Dear Sir:—I see in your Sunday paper a heading: "Wanted—A Drilling Outfit in the Debeque Field." Can you give me names of any responsible parties who really want a well drilled, in either the Debeque, Boulder or any other field in Colorado?

I can furnish two first-class strings of tools manned by drillers and tool dressers of 10 or 12 years' experience in Pennsylvania and Ohio fields within two weeks, or at least I can have tools shipped from Bowling Green, Ohio, 24 hours after securing order to do so. I see a lot of oil drilling talk in the papers but I see no inquiries for first-class drillers with tools. If you will kindly place me in correspondence with some parties who mean business, I will endeavor to relieve the tension to the extent of at least two sets of tools and more if I can secure contracts to warrant. Awaiting reply at your earliest convenience, I am,

Yours Respectfully,
N. B. Carr,
Box 1033, Aspen, Colorado.

How the Cowboy Sculptor Grew Up.

Everyone who enjoys the romance of real life will be interested in Arthur Goodrich's story of the life of Solon Borglum, the sculptor, in The World's Work for March. Mr. Borglum's ranch life is described as follows:

"Up at Loup river he built a shack, stocked his ranch, and surrounded himself with boys who threw a lariat or broke a wild horse as well as he did—simple, rough fellows who bunked with him in the little cabin or rode with him on the prairie. Through the long, cold winter months, facing the cutting wind and snow of the blizzards on the plains, around crackling fire inside the cabin, while Joe Andrews, his right-hand man, or one of the other 'boys' told stirring stories of other storms and narrow escapes from death, then on through the spring work, the delight of the true cow-puncher and the long baking summer and finally the alert, straining days of the fall round-up, these men and their horses lived together daily comrades. The plains and their isolation knitted their lives into a single piece. Many a time a pony was unruly in the yard about the cabin, and was caught and controlled only by the most subtle cowboy strategy and brute force, but once out on the open plain with the long reach of prairie in every direction the man and horse became one in their loneliness, and each toiled in sympathy with the other. It was so with the men as well.

"His early sensitiveness of the impressions of the plains and the life that ran wild over them matured into a deep sympathy and manly tenderness. Many a time he would urge or lead his pony up some undiscovered ridge of country, and, reaching the top, he would sprawl on the sand hill and watch the wind mow paths in the bunch grass below, or, looking over the stretch of silent plain and hill to the illimitable blue beyond, he would unwillingly know himself a part of a great inexplicable something that he could not understand or express. Or after a stampede, as he sat in the saddle or stood beside his horse at night alone, with the sweating flank of the herd before him, and the hills and his cabin back of him somewhere in the blackness, the fierce epic of the plains wrote itself into his heart while he knew it not. Across the black ground, where the blizzard swept snow and sleet into his face, he guided the herd past the dry runs and gulleys in which the treacherous snow lay like a quicksand and when a cow would falter, half frozen and exhausted, with the weird cry of a coyote in his ears he kept courage in the heart of the beast because he disliked to leave her to die. When there was a brawl at a celebration dance in town, attended by all the cowboys of the country round after the round-up, he was always looked upon as peacemaker. His quiet fearlessness and the thorough knowledge of his work made him the adviser of many a neighboring ranchman and he watched over one horse ranch controlled by an easterner as carefully as he handled his own property."

The Philippine Problem.

The benefit of the Philippines, and of nearly all colonial establishments, is the degree to which they offer openings for the enterprises and capital of the nation, says Charles A. Conant in the March Atlantic. Let a single colonial market, like Hong Kong, or British India be closed to British goods, and the effect would reach back from Bradford and Lancashire, with their idle and starving factory hands, to every agriculturist in the British Empire, and from them to the wheat farms and cotton fields of America. That the necessity for such openings is recognized by the statesmen of all countries is shown by the eagerness with which Germany is fighting for colonial footings in such barren and unpromising soil as German East Africa, under the burning sun of the equator, by the heavy expenditures assumed with so much lightness of heart by Belgium in the Congo; and even by the heavy sacrifices made by impoverished Italy in Eretria and the heart of Abyssinia. If the need is less obvious at the present moment for those openings for the people and resources of the United States, it needs but little reflection upon the great output of our mills and factories, to show how soon this need but become imperative! Even if the Philippines were barren of productive results for a time, the United States would be peculiarly fortunate—while France, Germany, Belgium, and Italy have been contending for a quarter of a century for the most desolate and unpromising quarters of the earth—in having wrested from Spain one of the most fertile and promising domains of the Pacific.

Pennsylvania Has It.

W. L. H. Davis contributes a valuable historical paper on "Washington Headquarters" to the March Era, from which we quote:

As the traveller approaches Morrisville, going from Philadelphia to New York via the Pennsylvania railroad, on looking out the car window on the left, he will see Washington's first headquarters in Pennsylvania, surrounded by trees. The house has an interesting history. When Washington occupied it, Thomas Barclay, the owner, was a prominent and patriotic resident of Philadelphia and lived in it during the summer. He purchased the plantation of 241 acres in 1773, and is thought to have erected the house. Barclay sold it in November, 1791, to Robert Morris, the financier of the revolution and a signer of the Declaration of Independence. He spent part of his time there until overtaken by financial disaster, when the property was sold by the sheriff of Bucks county, to George Clymer, another signer, who lived there until his death, 1813. This is the only instance, so far as we are informed, of two signers living in the same house at different periods.

The Barclay house has been wonderfully preserved, with few changes since Washington occupied it, and, from present appearance, will last a century or two longer. The rooms are large, ceilings high, and the interior wood work, including wainscoting, elegant specimens of carving. One of the rooms is known as the "ball room," on account of its size, and tradition, with its many tongues, tells us it was the scene of a reception given to Lafayette on his last visit here in 1824.

Trades Council on the Gardner Affair

The Colorado Springs Federated Trades council passed a resolution asking Governor Orman to remove Adjutant General Gardner from office unless the governor is convinced by evidence that a reported interview with General Gardner is false. In the interview in question the general is quoted as having said that the recent snowslide at Telluride was the judgment of God upon the miners there.

The interview was printed in a Denver paper last week. General Gardner was quoted as making the remark which has aroused the ire of prominent labor men, and as having said that the miners at Telluride have been tyrannical over non union men.

General Gardner ... having been quoted correctly. The reporter who wrote the interview called him a liar at the state house on Tuesday. A number of labor men have asked the governor to remove the general from office and affidavits as to the truth of the interview will be presented to the governor.

The following resolution was passed unanimously at a meeting of the trades council of this city:

Whereas The commander of the national guard of Colorado Adjutant-General George F. Gardner is reported through the press as having said that it was his opinion that the recent disastrous snowslide at Telluride was the judgment of God upon the miners for their stand in the recent labor troubles and

Whereas Such expressions were unwarranted and an insult to the laboring man who has repeatedly made efforts to better his condition by unity and by his success has developed the resources of this great state and

Whereas It is evident that a man with such views is unfit to be in command of the national guard which may at any time be called upon to intervene in the controversies between employer and employed therefore be it

Resolved That we demand the immediate removal of General Gardner by Governor Orman unless his excellency is convinced by evidence that the interview is false be it further

Resolved That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to Governor Orman spread upon the minutes of this council and a copy furnished the press of our city.

He said that if he could not obtain justice in the courts he would have it some other way and he made dire and serious threats against Messrs. Frank and Verney Johnson of the lumber company. The suit involves the possession of a horse and Moreland said he would make good his threat unless the horse and the money that the litigation had cost him were returned to him within a few hours.

"THE TELEPHONE GIRL"

The Telephone Girl, a New York Casino gem set to daintiest music, the score by Gustave Kerker, that wizard of the baton, the book by Hugh Morton who has written more successes for metropolitan audiences than any other playwright, will be seen at the Opera house next Monday evening. It is adapted to all tastes and therein lies its continued popularity. It is one of the jolliest, most irresistibly comical and unique entertainments at present on the boards, and seems considering the fact that this is its fifth season a thing of perpetual joy. Dan Bottle who enacts the principal role of Hans Nix is a host in himself. Audiences laugh heartily over his indescribably funny dialect and his original manner. Pearle Hight who is the Estelle is one of the most accomplished and beautiful artists on the stage. Beautiful and shapely Marie Richmond has an important role. The others in the organization number some forty and all are described as being particularly well fitted for their respective roles. The play is in two acts like the majority of musical comedies and there is not a moment of ennui in either. Rapidity of movement is striven for from start to finish.

ANOTHER STRIKE ON MINERAL HILL

Sub-Lessee on Addie C. Property has Encountered Extension of the Laura Lee Ore Shoot---Repairs and Improvements on the Granite Mine.

Special to the Gazette

Cripple Creek March 12.—Another chapter was added to the sensational strike of a few weeks ago on Mineral hill by the opening of the extension of the Laura Lee ore shoot on an adjoining property today

E M Lesher is the fortunate lessee who has disclosed apparently the same body of ore that Peterson & Stone opened in the Laura Lee property. Mr Lesher has a sub lease on the Addie C property which crosses the Laura Lee and has been working a small force on trenching for the past few days. At a depth of about six feet from the surface he found big values of free gold in the same character of rock as that of the strike in the Laura Lee. The rich pay streak seems to lie inside of a porphyry dike and might have been cut at any time without arousing any suspicion of a high grade proposition. Mr Lesher is working at a distance of about feet from Peterson & Stone's shaft and will immediately follow up the development of the ore streak at depth. A new shaft is to be sunk and drifting will be commenced as soon as practicable.

Those who are familiar with this section of the district are of the general opinion that the source of the rich placer values discovered in the early days is about to be found. During the summer of 1892 and 93 there were as many as 100 men working on the placer at once and it might be safe to say that the total sum extracted from the wash is not less than $100,000. The Peterson and Stone strike attracted widespread attention and was the means of interesting a great many new operators in this locality. On the Sun Consolidated company's property comprising about 80 acres there are four or five sets of lessees at work and those who are watching developments are confident that a big mine is to be opened in this vicinity.

Coolidge & Company are cutting the ore in the Sun Consolidated company, ... following a good looking streak of ore at the 1? foot level. Other lessees are meeting with good indications but so far none of them have opened a body of shipping ore. Local interest in Mineral hill is greater than it ever has been before and every eye is turned in that direction for a new and startling sensation. Other properties are expected to resume work within the next few days as the strike of today will have considerable effect on those who have been skeptical in regard to the true proportions of Peterson and Stone's strike

The new management of the Granite mine on Battle mountain is losing no time in getting things in good shape and a steady production of approximately 25 tons of medium grade ore daily will be forthcoming from the property. At the present time a good deal of attention is being given to repairs and improvements about the equipment of the mine. The effects which have been more or less neglected of late are being put in repair and the company will be ready in the course of six weeks or two months to output at the rate of 100 tons of ore daily. The ore that has been broken so far is chiefly from the 900-foot level. Stoping in the 600 foot level was commenced today and the 900 foot drift is being extended back on this ore shoot so that production may be started from this depth. The 800-foot level will have to be extended for some little distance before it will be in shape for production and work in the 985 foot level will begin very soon. There is either ore or good conditions in each of the levels and above the 700 foot point there are two large paying shoots opened. The cross lead and east and west ore shoots will be opened as rapidly as possibly below the 700 foot depth. C C Hamlin of Colorado Springs will divide his time between Cripple Creek and that place in order to give his proper attention as manager to the mine

It is announced that Horace Granfield of Denver, who has met with success is opening up a good body of ore in the C K & N property on the west slope of Beacon hill has acquired the control of the stock. Mr Granfield has had the lease on the Rattler claim of the company for some little time and has been making a steady production recently from the extension of one of the Columbine veins. Another lift of 100 feet in the 300 foot shaft is to be sunk within a short time and it is reasonable to expect that the ore body will be wider and of better quality than in the level that is being worked at present.

It is understood that new developments in the Portland property have added 500 feet of stoping ground to the already big reserve of that bonanza mine

In the 400 foot level of shaft No 2 the north drift has disclosed an ore shoot 20 feet in width that will give between two and three ounces in gold to the ton. The ore has been opened previously in the 400 foot level and that it is continuous down to the 700 foot point there is little doubt

CONSOLIDATION OF SMALL COMPANIES

The Trenton and Pike's Peak and Bull Hill Companies Propose to Join Hands As a Protection Against Dissolution.

It has now become recognized that the wisest thing which small mining companies straitened in financial matters should do is band together for protection and at this time many deals are pending for this salutary step. The latest of the deals which have been proposed involves the Pikes Peak and Bull Hill company and the Trenton Gold Mining company

The two companies own something like 11 acres altogether, the Trenton ground lying on Gold hill and the Pikes Peak and Bull Hill owns ground on Galena. It is suggested that a company with 2,000,000 shares of one cent each be organized in Wyoming and that of this amount one half should be given to Trenton stockholders and one quarter to the stockholders in the other company which would leave a block of 500,000 shares in the treasury which would serve to pay off the indebtedness under which the companies are now suffering and also to provide for the future expenses of the company. A meeting to consider a proposition of consolidation has been called to meet March — in this city

BIG SMELTER DEAL CONSUMMATED

The United States Reduction and Refining Company Purchases the Zinc-Lead Plant at Canon City for $600,000.

A deal was closed in Denver Tuesday between the Montgomery Investment company and the United States Reduction & Refining company involving the transfer from the former to the latter of the assets of the American Zinc Lead Smelting company for a consideration of $600,000

The American Zinc Lead corporation was a matte smelter with a capacity of 100 tons at Canon City also about 100 acres of ground adjoining the smelter site of 20 acres together with all the smaller buildings tracks, etc which would be required in operating a smelting plant

The company was organized about 10 years ago and since that time the smelter has been in operation under the management of D. Freedman handling the zinc and lead ores from Leadville and various Utah and Nevada camps. The smelter has been something of a novelty among the plants of the country taking a class of ore not accepted by those controlled by the smelter trust producing therefrom a copper matte and also a zinc lead pig ment as a by product

The acquisition of the smelter by the United States company marks a branching out by that corporation which is probably destined to make it a serious rival of the smelter trust as their other plants are merely reduction works

A new company to be called the United States Smelting company is to be organized in the near future by those who now control the United States Reduction & Refining company and all the stock and bonds of the new company will be owned by the reduction company. The first property to be owned by the new corporation will be that acquired by the purchase of the zinc lead plant and it is understood that other additions will be made in the course of time. The capacity of the plant will be increased at once to 300 tons a day and will be started up as soon as necessary improvements can be made under the management of D C Jackling

It was reported in the Denver Republican yesterday that the United States Reduction & Refining company had bought the Granite mine as well as the zinc lead plant but this is denied by General Manager MacNeill. The report of the Granite sale as reported in these columns yesterday is correct it having been a private deal of the four gentlemen mentioned Messrs Tutt, Penrose MacNeill and Hamlin

COL. GINGER'S PROSPECTING CO. HAS SECURED SIX BIG MINES

Started From This City Two Years Ago and Have Operated Upon a Unique Basis--Mines Are in Mexico.

Col Lew Ginger returned from Mexico on Sunday after having spent almost the entire winter in Sonora, where the Gold Coin P & D company organized in this city two years ago are operating. This company started out with five huge wagons specially constructed and completely fitted up for a thorough prospecting tour in this state Arizona and Mexico. Surveying and assaying outfits were included in the outfit while the field force was composed of thorough and competent men who were in charge of the different departments. The result of the trip so far has been most successful all the men with one exception remain with and are largely interested in the organization and the company has acquired a large number of rich properties which are being developed as fast as men and money can do it

On one mine the Santa Rosa at San Javier, a fine plant of machinery has been installed including a large compressor and air drill and a vulcan smelter will be erected at the mine at once. Some of the Boston capitalists who are interested in the company visited the properties recently and were so pleased with the country that they invested a large amount of money. Colonel Ginger says that now that the Gold Coin Prospecting & Development company has acquired about all the property that can well be handled by one organization he does not hesitate to say that for legitimate mining Sonora presents the greatest field of any part of this continent. Some of the richest mines of the world are in successful operation in that state

The Mexican government will welcome capital that will enter into the mining business in a legitimate way but the wild cat promoter will find that he will not be tolerated in the country

Before returning to Colorado Colonel Ginger and the eastern people visited the City of Mexico where they had interviews with the highest officials of the government who assured them that every facility to operate in Mexico would be extended them and others who felt disposed to invest. The greatest difficulty the company has to contend with is the remoteness from railways, but as the ore is reduced to bullion at the mines it obviates the necessity of shipping the ore

The field crew has enjoyed the best of health and the climate where they are operating is delightful during the greater part of the year. A great deal of English French and German capital is invested in Sonora and the United States is being represented by some strong companies.

ECHO LESSEES INSTALL A HOIST

The lessees on the north end of the Echo property on the Arequa townsite have installed an electric hoist good for 500 feet and are preparing to sink their shaft to the 100-foot point at once. The present depth of the shaft is 50 feet where some exploration has been carried on in a promising vein and the lessees believe that depth will contribute the only condition which is now necessary to give mineralization to the vein

The property of the Echo company has been well developed by two sets of lessees for several months, and good inducements are being obtained in the shaft on the other end of the claim which is now down 200 feet where the prospects are promising. The ground adjoins the Elkton ground and also the holdings which have recently gone into the Jennie Sample consolidation.

MINING NOTES AROUND TOWN

The Blue Trail Oil company has just been organized in this city to operate in the Turkey creek district south of this city on the Canon City road. The company controls over 5,000 acres of land in this vicinity and proposes to sink a well just as soon as Professor Lakes makes an examination and advises the company as to the best place to start a well. Some of the rock broken from the various outcroppings found in this district was seen in the city yesterday and is not only of a very encouraging appearance to the eye but to the nose as well strongly manifesting its relation to petroleum. The company was organized by C Noble W P Sargeant John F Sanger W B Jenkins A Sutton F F Merritt of this city and J H Jenkins of Pueblo

OFFICE OF THE DEBEQUE MUTUAL OIL AND GAS CO

The offices of the Debeque Mutual Oil & Gas company which was organized a few days ago have been located with the Colorado Securities company on the fifth floor of the Mining Exchange building in this city. This concern is fiscal agent for the Blaine Oil & Gas company the Debeque Townsite Oil & Development company, and the Grand Valley Oil company all of which are operating in the Debeque fields. The company as stated in these columns a few days ago, owns 2,000 acres of oil lands in the Grand Valley district and is controlled by Messrs Parker Davie Sunderlin Thayer and Hotchkiss who compose the directorate

SPRINGS MEN ARE AFTER THE LAURA LEE

Peterson and Stone who first opened up ore on the Laura Lee on Mineral hill are now negotiating with Colorado Springs parties for the sale of their lease. They have out about five tons and will make a shipment in a few days. Very little drifting has been done on the vein but the rock which is being broken in the upraise at the 110 foot level is very rich. An assay was obtained today on a large sample of the sorted stuff that went at the rate of $2 a pound. The price at which they are offering their lease is said to be $20,000

HALF INTEREST IN THREE CLAIMS SOLD

SUIT FILED AGAINST THE CLYDE G M CO

A J Carlton president of the First National bank of this city on Tuesday filed suit against the Clyde Gold Mining company for $6,92? 18 for coal labor and material furnished the corporation. The Clyde is situated on Bull hill and it is said that John Andrews the president of a Detroit Mich paying institution was the principal stockholder. A few weeks ago Andrews was arrested for appropriating funds of the institution for his own benefit and is said to be nearly $1,000,000 short. Andrews expended on the Clyde in the neighborhood of $200,000 in the purchase of the property and in development work but up to date no pay ore has been found

A SUIT THREATENED OVER APEX OF VEIN

The Empire State Mining company of which Nelson B Williams is president and George Kilborn manager is mining and shipping high-grade ore from the old Maroney shaft on the Orphan Belle. Last week the output amounted to four carloads which was consigned direct to the smelter, and a similar production will be made this week. It is rumored that papers in a suit are now being prepared claiming that the apex of the vein from which thousands of dollars' worth of ore has been mined on Isabella ground lies on the territory of the Empire State. The former owner of this ground, the Orphan Belle company through its attorneys Tyson S Dines of Denver and Sturgeon & Cassady of Colorado Springs has already applied for an order of the district court for an underground examination of the various workings of the Free Coinage company, adjoining the properties of the petitioners. It is alleged in the petition that the respondents have extracted ore from the Orphan Belle territory through their workings and the examination is expected to determine the value of the ores. A similar suit is anticipated against the Isabella company

FINDLEY READY TO GO AFTER ORE

The Findley company has about completed the big station at the 900 foot level and will commence this week to drive to the ore shoot. There is reported to be a vast quantity of ore in the upper workings of this property which Weaver & Steelsmith the lessees, were unable to extract during the life of their lease. When the new level is opened up the mine should make a record for itself in value and tonnage

A PESTIFEROUS GERM

Burrows up the Scalp Into Dandruff and Saps the Hair's Vitality.

People who complain of falling hair as a rule do not know that it is the result of dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite burrowing up the scalp as it digs down to the sheath in which the hair is fed in the scalp. Before long the hair root is shriveled up and the hair drops out. If the work of the germ is not destroyed hair keeps thinning till baldness comes. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ and until now there has been no hair preparation that would do it but today dandruff is easily eradicated by Newbro's Herpicide which makes hair glossy and soft as silk.

THE COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

Colorado Springs, March 12.—The features of today's market were found in the preferred list. The trading was not specially good in the list as a whole, but two stocks, Little Puck and Sunset-Eclipse, were active and stronger. Indeed it was among the stocks of this class that the only strength was manifested. The only two dividend-payers which were traded in were Elkton and Portland. The former lost a cent to $1.21 and the latter was heavy around $2.50, there being apparently a good [illegible] around that figure. Though there is a fairly good demand for the stocks Golden Cycle remained firm at 65 and Isabella sold at 23. Gold Dollar Consolidated sold at 11½ again and Work was fairly firm at 8¼, but a light trader. Bostwick sold at 2 and Little Puck was a trader to the amount of 20,000 shares and scored a gain from 5½ to 6¼, while Mobile was a trader to the amount of 10,000 shares at 1¾. Sunset-Eclipse recovered to 11⅛ under splendid trading, due to the improved showing in the mine, while in the neighborhood of 35,000 shares of C. K. & N. changed hands again, and the price advanced to 5⅛. With so many instances of strength and activity among the prospect class the market can be said to be in a decidedly encouraging condition.

EASTERN MARKETS

New York Stock Market.

By Associated Press.

New York, March 12.—There was some show of animation in today's stock market on an upward range of prices. The strength did not permeate the whole market but there were more of the usually prominent stocks concerned in the movement than has been the rule recently. The most conspicuous of these was Amalgamated Copper in which there was evidence of liquidation with only occasional intermissions during which the fall received a momentary check. The extreme decline reached 4⅝ points. The selling of the stock was accompanied by rumors that the next dividend will be reduced or passed. No authoritative information was to be had on the subject nor on the many reports that the marketing of the company's surplus stock had involved heavy losses. The weakness of this stock gave an occasional check to the advance at other points, but did not materially affect the stronger tendency of the market. Covering by alarmed shorts seemed to play a part in the advance, especially in the coalers which have been freely sold on rumors that the anthracite miners were determined to push demands that would not be granted. Today equally assured predictions were heard that there would be no labor troubles in the coal trade and there was no room for dissatisfaction. There was no authoritative information on this subject either. Another case where speculative sentiment was reversed from that of yesterday was on the outlook for the winter wheat crop on reports of copious rains in Texas and the southwest. Buying to cover short contracts was particularly effective in Missouri Pacific which also had the advantage of an increase in gross earnings for the first week of March. The calmness of the money market was the final factor of a general character on the strength in stocks. The rate for money is firm and nobody is found to predict an early relaxation of rates but feeling was reassured today that there is no immediate danger of forcing a condition of stringency. Special strength was shown today by General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, North American and Readings. There were gains of a point or over for a large number of stocks which were modified by a late realizing movement.

The bond market continues rather irregular and moderately active. Total sales, par value, $2,340,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on the last call.

The London Market.

By Associated Press.

New York, March 12.—Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram.

The stock market today was extremely quiet. The shock over the capture of General Methuen is already forgotten, but the markets are waiting for some fresh lead. In the meantime the tone is firm. American shares were featureless till New York bid up Union Pacific, St. Paul, Southern Pacific and Erie. In the street stocks were easier with a dull finish, save Canadian Pacific, which was firm on New York orders. Rio Tintos closed at 46⅝ after touching 46⅝, and copper advanced ⅝ to £54½ the ton.

Gold to the amount of £50,000 has gone out to South Africa.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, March 12.—Strong bearish argument in the shape of news of rains over the southwestern wheat fields influenced liberal sales in both wheat and corn today, but bears went to extremes and oversold the markets. As a result a few bits of otherwise unimportant news started covering and May wheat closed only a shade under. May corn ⅜@½c higher and May oats ⅞c up. Provisions gained 2½ to 10 cents.

Bears started to sell wheat liberally at the opening on the rain reports. The southwest which has been reported as suffering badly for moisture seemed to have received a good drenching. At any rate the bear argument was strong and as depressing as traders expect any news to be for some time. In the speculative mind the danger from damaged crops is past. This started May wheat ¼@⅜c to ½@⅝c down, at 76¾ to 76c, and influenced a further dip to 75⅞c. Cables were slightly lower but receipts were small. Trade was only moderate but it was nearly all on the selling side, until covering set in. Two days ago May wheat was selling at 78¼c. At the low price today short sales made at the high price future holders made good profits. May sold up sharply to 76⅝c and closed almost firm a shade lower at 76½c. Throughout the day shorts were nervous. The corn strength also developed selling.

Primary receipts were 503,000 bushels, compared to 608,000 bushels the same day last year. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour equaled 283,000 bushels. The seaboard reported 65 loads taken for export of which 50 were said to be of Manitoba wheat.

Corn opened a little easier on the wheat weakness and bears did some short selling. The rain, however, started the bulls to talking of a further hindrance of the movement to market. Trade was not active but receipts were small as usual. As the wheat weakness began to disappear corn picked up marked strength. Shorts were nervous, the market got oversold and covering was the order of the day. This sent May up from 61⅝ to 62½c and brought a firm close ⅜@½c higher at 62⅜@62½c. Receipts were 103 cars.

Oats were fairly active and nervous at the opening. The tone was strong on a further withdrawal of 48,750 bushels of No. 2 oats from stocks, making a reduction of one-third of the total Chicago stocks since Monday. May opened unchanged at 44⅝c and advanced to 45½c. Trade then turned dull and was a scalping affair. The late corn strength and short covering gave the closing impetus and May ended the session strong, ⅞c up at 45⅝c.

Provisions were dull but ruled firm with coarse grains and higher prices for hogs. May pork closed 10c up at $15.45, May lard 2½c higher at $9.42½, and May ribs 2½c higher at $8.42½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 35 cars, corn, 110 cars; oats, 75 cars. Hogs, 32,000 head.

RUSSIAN SUGAR.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

St. Petersburg, March 10.—Russian sugar exportations fell off over 30 per cent. during the first 10 months of 1901, as compared with the same period of 1900. The respective figures are 2,920,000 poods, worth 4,957,000 roubles, and 7,081,000 pods, worth 12,052,000 roubles.

Correspondence received by the St. Petersburg Vedomesti represents the 600,000 natives of Daghestan as being completely ruined and say that many of them are emigrating to Turkey. The causes assigned for this state of affairs are excessive taxation and faulty original appraisement of land and stock. Petitions on the part of the natives are treated by the officials as seditious.

NATURAL GAS EXPLOSIONS.

By Associated Press.

Peru, Ind., March 12.—Two natural gas explosions early today wrecked two buildings and injured six people. Frank Kiley, Sr., is supposed to be fatally injured. Others injured are: Frank Kiley, Jr., James Kiley, Bridget Kiley, Mrs. John Hayes and baby.

The first building wrecked was occupied by Mrs. Hayes. The explosion awakened the Kiley family and they rushed to the porch. While standing there another explosion wrecked their house and hurled the Kileys into the yard. The elder Kiley was found buried in the debris.

SITES FOR STATE BUILDINGS.

Commissioners from Five States Visit the World's Fair Grounds at St. Louis.

St. Louis, March 8.—Commissioners from five states visited St. Louis this week and selected sites for the state buildings they are to erect on the world's fair grounds. They were the commissioners from Illinois, Texas, Arkansas, West Virginia and Kansas. The Illinois, Arkansas and West Virginia gentlemen visited the site of the exposition together after being furnished with plats of the grounds set apart in the hilly, heavily wooded district for states and territories in the southern part of Forest park. After the party returned to the city from the world's fair grounds Mr. A. H. Winchester expressed the sentiment of all the visiting commissioners in this way: "I took my little daughter to Washington with me one time. You know West Virginia is a mountainous country—everything is up and down. You never see the sun set nor rise. The length of the day depends on your valley. I woke the little girl up as we moved out of our own landscape into the broader one through which we were passing before reaching Washington. She looked out on one side of the car and then on the other, with a sigh. Finally she said:

"'Oh, isn't it big here!' That is the feeling I have after seeing the world's fair site. It has such splendid dimensions. It is beautiful."

Governor Stanley came with the Kansas commissioners and the site they selected is one of the best on the grounds.

The locations chosen by Illinois, Arkansas, Texas and West Virginia are the high hill in the neighborhood of the Missouri building site. The location is high and dry and firm, with walls of woods on every side.

Plans and specifications for many state buildings will soon be ready for the contractors.

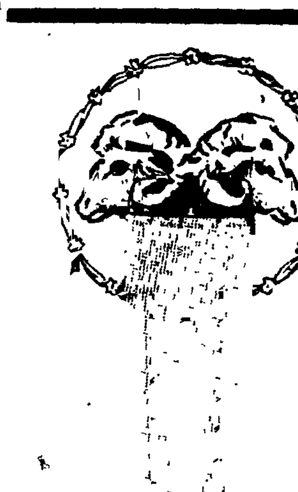

At the St. Louis club in the evening the commissioners were the guests of Chairman Huttig of the states and territories committee. There the organization of the State Commissioners association was effected, with H. M. Dunlap of Illinois as temporary chairman and P. W. Milan of Arkansas as temporary secretary. Chairman Dunlap stated the object of the organization to be "the formation of a national association of state commissioners and officials in charge of state and territorial exhibits, to promote the general objects of the Louisiana Purchase exposition and for mutual aid between states looking to unity of action in bringing about results connected with state and individual exhibits."

Correspondence will be opened at once to enlist in the organization every state which has a commission and to obtain the appointment of commissioners in states which now have none.

WORLD'S FAIR NEWS NOTES.

President Francis of the Louisiana Purchase exposition, Chairman Tawney of the committee on industrial arts and expositions at Washington, and Chairman Cannon of the committee on appropriations have denied that any question of postponing the St. Louis world's fair is or has been under consideration. Ex-Senator John H. Thurston of the national world's fair commission added his denial, March 4, as follows: "No such suggestion has been made to us by the local corporation, nor has any member of the commission mentioned it."

A bill appropriating $50,000 for a world's fair exhibit was passed March 6 by a unanimous vote in the house of the Colorado general assembly. This was the amount asked for by the state commission, which has also secured pledges of financial assistance from mine owners and from nearly every county in the state. The Colorado exhibit complete will cost about $300,000.

HERE IS HEALTH

THESE FOUR NEW PREPARATIONS comprise a complete new treatment for consumption and nearly all the ills of life.

The FOOD EMULSION is needed by some, the EMULSION and TONIC by others, the EXPECTORANT by others, the OZOJELL CURE for CATARRH by others still, and ALL FOUR, or any THREE, or TWO, or any ONE, may be used singly or in combination, according to the needs of the case. Full instructions with each set of four free remedies represented in this illustration. Also 68-page My Doctor Book.

EDITOR'S NOTE—The Slocum system of Treatment for the cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Lung Troubles and Consumption is medicine reduced to an exact science by America's foremost specialist; and the readers of the Colorado Springs Gazette are urged to take advantage of Dr. Slocum's Generous offer.

These four remedies represent a New system of treatment for the Weak and those suffering from Consumption, wasting diseases, or inflammatory conditions of Nose, Throat and Lungs.

The treatment is Free.

By the new system devised by Dr. SLOCUM, the great specialist in pulmonary and kindred diseases, all the requirements of the sick body are supplied by the FOUR remedies constituting his Special Treatment known as The Slocum System.

Whatever your disease, one or more of these four preparations will be of wonderful benefit to you.

According to the needs of your case, fully explained in the Treatise given free with the free remedies, you may take one, or any two, or three, or all four, in combination.

A cure is certain.

The remedies are especially adapted for those who suffer from weak lungs, coughs, sore throat, Catarrh, Consumption and other pulmonary troubles.

But they are also of wonderful efficacy to the building up of weak systems, in purifying the blood, making flesh and restoring to weak, sallow people rich and healthy constitutions.

The many ailments of women and delicate children are speedily relieved.

The basis of the entire system is a flesh building, nerve and tissue renewing food.

Every invalid and sick person needs strength. This food gives it.

Many people get the complete system for the sake of the perfected Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which they themselves need, and give away the other three preparations to their friends.

The second article is a Tonic. It is good for weak, thin, dyspeptic, nervous people. For those who have no appetite, who need bracing up.

Thousands take only the Emulsion and the Tonic.

The third preparation is a medicinal healing Ozojell, in a patent Ozojell nasal tube. It cures catarrh. It heals all irritation of the nose, throat and mucous membranes. It gives immediate relief. It is also a splendid application for sore lips and rough skin.

Perhaps many readers of the Colorado Springs Gazette need the Ozojell cure for Catarrh.

The fourth article is an Expectorant and Cough and Cold Cure. The only expectorant that can positively be relied upon. It is absolutely safe for children. Goes to the very root of the trouble and not merely alleviates, but cures.

The four remedies form a panoply of strength against disease in whatever shape it may attack you.

THE FREE TRIAL

To obtain these four Free preparations, illustrated above, all you have to do is to write to giving full address. The four Free remedies will then be sent you, direct from the laboratories, in the hope that if they do you good you will recommend them to your friends. When writing the Doctor please tell him you read this in The Colorado Springs Gazette and greatly oblige.
